

Health, Medicine & Society

2015 National Public Health Week

Careers in Health Panel Discussion

Featuring multiple health professionals from different health fields, many of which are Lehigh alumni. This panel will provide advice and perspectives on pursuing a career in health.

Zahir Carrington, LU BA '10, Sociology and Anthropology, / MA '12, Sociology
Medical Device Sales Representative, Olympus (NYC territory)

Bonnie Coyle, M.D. , PSU '84, Nutrition Science

MS Public Health Director of Community Health, St. Luke's and Adjunct Professor, Lehigh University

Nick Kastango, LU'10, Industrial Engineering

Data Scientist, Department of Strategy and Innovation, Memorial Sloan Kettering Hospital, NYC

Hope Kincaid, LU '09, Sociology and Anthropology / Health, Medicine and Society

Biostatistician Lehigh Valley Health Network

Liz Miller, LU '12, Molecular Biology

Third-year medical student, Temple University

Mary Ellen Raposa, Yale '77, Molecular Biophysics and Biochemistry

Pre-Health Advisor, Career Service, Lehigh University

Rajika Reed, PSU '96, Biological Life Sciences

Doctoral Candidate, Teaching, Learning and Technology, College of Education, Lehigh University
Department of Community Health, St. Luke's

Rebecca Sharim Storace, LU '05, Behavioral Neuroscience / Psychology

Rheumatology Fellow, University of Pennsylvania

Tuesday-April 7 ▪ 4:10 p.m. ▪ STEPS 101

Office of Interdisciplinary Programs 610-758-3996 or incasip@lehigh.edu